Network 1 Election of conveners

WHAT IS IT TO BE A CONVENER?

- The roles of Convenors vary from Network to Network
- Each Convenor may take a different role in the Network
- The workload will be light, unless you want to take more responsibilities in
 - Chairing
 - Reporting to EERA office and council
 - Actively contributing to the development of the NW
 - Contributing to the development of EERA

Network 1 Election of conveners

- The process should contribute to the following principles: transparency, legitimacy, openness, trust, and continuity. Information about the established process is available (website, network meetings, etc.).
- Normally, the process will be based on an election of Convenors by the participants in the network, during the ECER network meeting, based on a minimum of two nominations (from participants in the network).
- The group of Convenors should reflect EERA's diversity in terms of geographical representation and gender balance.
- The election is part of the network meeting agenda and is made known to minimally all network participants before the conference.

Network 1 Election of conveners

Procedure:

All the authors presenting in NW 1 in 2019 have been sent an email through the ConfTool bulk email system, asking for nominees:

”This year one of the conveners of the NW1 is retiring from the post, and we need a new convener. Working as a convener of an EERA network is generally acknowledged as an academic merit, and it can be regarded as a step forward especially for researchers in their post-doc career.

The election of a new convener, however, is a complex procedure where we must take into account a number of variables. According to the EERA guidelines, we have to take care of the linguistic, geographical, and gender balance of the convener team.

According to the EERA guidelines, the candidates will have an opportunity to introduce her / himself in max one minute speech in the meeting. The group of conveners will do the final decision based on the nominations after the meeting and inform the result of the election by an email to all who have presented their research in the Network 1 in ECER2019 as well as the EERA office and council.

If you want to propose a candidate (including yourself) please let us know before the NW meeting by sending an email to Professor Hannu Heikkinen to address hannu.l.t.heikkinen@jyu.fi ”
