The meeting started at 12.30pm (Geneva time)

1. The link convener, Laurence Lasselle started the meeting by welcoming the 8 participants. She thanked everyone for their hard work and support (EERA office, presenters, chairs, reviewers and conveners).
She reported that she has been impressed by the quality of the presentations and the interaction between presenters and participants in the sessions she attended. All shared the same experience.
2. She briefly reported on the ECER 2021 submission process.

All discussed their EC2021 experience. Among the positive points, the attention of the Network to pay attention to the time zones, the useful and user-friendly OnAir platform, the early circulation of the programme. We noted that we all experienced technical issues.

Among the queries:

How long would the OnAir resources be available to the participants?

How could we access the keynotes?

Would there be proceedings?

Laurence said she would seek the responses and circulated them as soon as she can.

3. Network news (see PPT slides 6 and 7)
We discussed the possibility to interact with Network 4 (joint session / symposium at ECER 2022) and to approach the World Education Research Association (session on Rural contexts)
4. We briefly discussed ECER2022 and the theme of the conference.
Laurence informed everyone that she will start to write the special call (to be submitted to the EERA office by 15 October). As always, the draft will be circulated among the conveners for comments.
5. Laurence invited the participants to continue their task as reviewers or to join the team of reviewers.
6. Laurence gave a brief outlook of the rest of the conference.
Participants thanked Laurence and all were invited to the KumoSpace on Friday 10 September from 9am (Geneva Time).

The meeting closed at 13.30pm.
