1. Welcome

Dear ECER 2018 participants,

A warm welcome to ECER 2018 in Bozen-Bolzano, which is the first ECER in Italy ever. It takes place in South Tyrol, which provides an intercultural and multilingual setting characteristic of a liberal Europe and, therefore, of our European Association and Conference on Educational Research. In these respects, the framing theme of our conference is more current than ever.

On behalf of the Local Organising Committee (LOC), the Free University of Bolzano (unibz), the Società Italiana di Pedagogia (SIPED), the EERA head office (Berlin), the EERA Executive and Council, you are most welcome to the University Campus, the city of Bozen-Bolzano and to the annual ECER.

We took both pride and modesty in hosting you, and did our best to make ECER 2018 an organisational, intellectual and social success. As compared to former ECER locations in big European cities or capitals, this year's conference will take place in a smaller, regional and natural environment. We trust that you will find not only similar conference conditions as hitherto, but also many new experiences regarding e.g. spatial density, communicative and linguistic diversity, the first certified "Green ECER", a historically and naturally exceptional environment, and, not to forget, an alpine and mediterranean lifestyle and cuisine. Enjoy meeting old and new friends, engaging in networks' work, finding stimulating sessions, taking time to walk around, enjoying a coffee and talking and discussing.

The centre of the conference venue is the University building, but we also use other buildings in the city of Bozen-Bolzano within a walking distance of 10 minutes maximum. The venue booklet will help you navigate and find the right places. In case of any problems, please do not hesitate to ask at the info desk or any student helper with the "Ask Me" logo on the back of their white t-shirts.

Welcome to Europe, Italy, South Tyrol, Bozen-Bolzano, and its Free University. Enjoy your stay!

Local Organising Committee:

Edwin Keiner (Free University of Bozen-Bolzano, chair), Barbara Gross (Free University of Bozen-Bolzano, research assistant), Simonetta Polenghi (Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore Milan, SIPED president), Maria Grazia Riva (Università degli Studi di Milano Bicocca), Massimiliano Fiorucci (Università degli Studi Roma Tre), Liliana Dozza (Free University of Bozen-Bolzano), Monica Paricchi (Free University of Bozen-Bolzano), Hannes Hell (Free University of Bozen-Bolzano, event manager).

2. General Information

2.1 – Weather in South Tyrol

The region is well known for its mild climate and pristine air in the first weeks of September. Expect an average daytime temperature of around 23°C, which means about 15°–18°C in the morning and about 24°–28°C during the day: it's best to leave the house with a long sleeved sweater or very light jacket and something lighter under it. Although nowadays it is almost impossible to predict weather conditions even in the short run, up to now chances of rainy days in September were low. Check out the App called "Weather South Tyrol" for your mobile device.

2.2 – Getting around

Bozen-Bolzano is a small city, easy to navigate on foot and all conference venues are within walking distance in the city center. Check out "City Parking Bolzano" on the web for more information and expect to pay 2,60 € / hr. ## 6. Green Event

For the first time ever, ECER 2018 has been awarded a “green label”. This means, that the conference’s ecological sustainability has been put to the test and the result was extraordinary.

Here are just a few criteria for receiving the award:

ECER will be powered by electricity from renewable energy sources only (water power); plastic has been reduced to a minimum, therefore thousands of coffee cups have been substituted by a re-usable bamboo mug, we use pencils instead of plastic pens and more; the conference bag is made of bio-organic cotton; printing has been limited to an absolute minimum and much more!

We did everything in our power in order to receive the award and invite you to join us in this effort: for yourself, a brighter future and for the planet you’ll leave to your children.

Thank you.
